

Roanne Victor
Kentucky Arts Council Board
Louisville, Ky.

Roanne Victor is a professional volunteer with a lifetime career of community service. She has worked with Actors Theatre of Louisville since 1962. Roanne has been the director of the art gallery at Actors since 1969. She is a founder of The Actors African American Art Exhibition and began the annual fundraising project for Actors, Page to the Stage.

Roanne is also currently an active member on the boards of the Cathedral Heritage Foundation and the newly formed Kentucky School of Art, an affiliate of Spalding University. Previously, she has served on the boards of the Kentucky Museum of Art and Craft, Kentucky Opera and Louisville/Jefferson County Heritage Weekend. She has been a member of the Kentucky Derby Museum Gala Committee since 1994. She also founded the Organic Farmers Market at the Temple.

Roanne received a Woman of Distinction award from the Center for Women and Families in 2002. In 2006 she received a Bell Award for Community Service from WLKY 's Spirit of Louisville Foundation. She is a member of Leadership Louisville and has twice been named as a Bingham Fellow. She was the first recipient of the Actors Theatre President's Award.